

Internal Medicine Residency Recruitment Rotation Overview

NYU Grossman Long Island School of Medicine

Rotations Overview:

- Floors: 4.5-5 months rotation
 - Educational rounding model: Teams consist of hospitalist, senior resident, intern, +/- medical student
 - 2 General Medicine
 - 1 Telemetry
 - 1 Oncology
 - Call is Q4 days and you only take call when on floors
- ICU/CCU/RRT
 - MICU: One month rotation
 - Closed Unit
 - Amazing learning opportunities dedicated Attending / Fellow
 - Ultrasound teaching, procedure certifications, Plans for ECMO center
 - CCU: One month rotation
 - Closed Unit
 - Exposure to all major cardiac conditions
 - Manage patients with swan catheters, balloon pumps

Rotations Overview:

- Elective: 4-6 week rotation
 - All medical subspecialties represented
 - Opportunities for inpatient and outpatient exposure
 - No Mandatory “selectives” during intern year, find what interests you
 - Also offering electives in Radiology, Anesthesia, Dermatology, Occupational Medicine
- Ambulatory: 6-8 week rotation
 - New state of the art facility
 - Diversity of patient interactions
 - Morning/Noon educational lectures
 - 9am-4pm clinic schedule with opportunity to have one 3 day weekend per block
- Nights
 - Invaluable Experience
 - All admissions done with attending hospitalist nocturnist and plans discussed in-real-time
 - Seniors always in call room together with interns to do admissions together and take care of floor patients
- Research
 - Opportunities to pursue research in your field of interest; research elective available in 2nd and 3rd year
 - Fellows in every speciality to work with on projects
 - $1500 Conference Stipend
 - NYU Grossman Long Island School of Medicine Research Day